EXHIBIT OPENS IN MAY
AT THE ACWC MAIN
GALLERY IN PERRY

The Arts Council for Wyoming County (ACWC) is pleased to present the lifelong work of artist Vincent A. Pagliaroli (1950) in an exhibition with a special focus on his hand-carved decoys. Visitors to the exhibition will see the work of a master carver who brings a deep passion to his craft; a passion he has had from a very young age. The artist describes his introduction to the craft this way:

The waterfowl bug bit me in a goose blind at Pymatuning in 1964, and my life changed thereafter. From that day, I dedicated my life to "waterfowl and waterfowling."

Eighteen years later (1982), Vincent transitioned from painting watercolors of decoys to carving his own decoys. His original patterns are primarily made using hand tools, other than a band saw, used to cut out the shape, and a drill press for the eye holes and dowel rod holes, and Forstner bits to begin the hollowing process. Most of the wooden decoys that will be on display are made from very old pattern-grade sugar pine, northern white pine, cedar, and balsa. Some are drift-wood, found wood, and wood from

FIBER FLURRY
FESTIVAL COMES TO
PERRY, NY, IN APRIL:
CALL FOR ART!

The Arts Council for Wyoming County (ACWC) will present the 2024 Fiber Flurry Festival, April 26th and 27th, at the festival's new location! In previous years this annual festival was held in the Village of Wyoming. This year it will be held at the ACWC Gallery, 31 South Main Street in Perry. The 2024 festival includes even more opportunities for learning and shopping with a slate of workshops on Friday evening in an expanded learning space and early private access on Friday night for workshop participants.

To start the weekend's festivities, ACWC will host a fiber artists roundtable on Friday afternoon, featuring a panel of 6 fiber artists working in various facets of woolcraft. The forum will be followed by workshops and private early-access shopping for attendees and workshop students. Saturday's festival keynote address will be delivered by Shepherdess and Artist Tammy White (pictured, above). White is a nationally regarded artist who has contributed to Taproot Magazine, Modern Farmer, and What/Where Women Create, as well as collaborations with Vogue. She raises 100 sheep, goats, alpacas, and various other farm animals at her production fiber farm, Wing & A Prayer Farm, located in southwestern Vermont and home to Vermont's first pure-blood Valais Blacknose Sheep and some of the first Valais Blacknose sheep in North America. White uses foraged and found materials for luminescent, beautiful color on her flocks' wool. Through inspiring visuals, she will lead attendees on a journey of exploring the world of botanical color and her experience working with Chilean artist Cecilia Vicuña as part of her installation and interactive exhibit at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2022. White will also hold two workshop opportunities for learning and contribute to the panel discussion on Friday afternoon.

Call for Art!

For the first time, this year's festival will include a juried arts exhibition and skein competition. The exhibit, Different Fibers, will showcase fiber art pieces from local artists curated around the council's 2024 theme: Different. Art and handmade fiber art will be accepted in the following three

ACWC RURAL ARTS ROADSHOW

Art Influenced by Mental Health is back in Wyoming County and will be on display during the months of April and May at our satellite gallery located in the Wyoming County YMCA. This year-long exhibition has traveled through Allegany, Cattaraugus, and Wyoming Counties, featuring multiple regional artists' art interpretations influenced by mental health.

This idea, including the exhibition's title, Rural Arts Roadshow, was taken from a model in Australia's rural Tasmanian area. Tasmania, like Wyoming and Allegany Counties, has a high rate of social isolation, suicide, and depression. The project was intended to help increase mental health awareness and foster discussion. The public is invited to see these artistic representations or interpretations of the topic or experiences. The Wyoming County YMCA is located at 115 Linwood Ave, Warsaw, NY 14569. The exhibition ends on May 25.

categories: Handmade Useful, Handspun Skeins, and For Art's Sake. The exhibit of accepted work opens April 12 at the ACWC gallery, and will be on view through April 27. First, second, and third-place winners in each category will be announced at the Fiber Flurry Festival closing reception, April 27. Work using traditional techniques to create nontraditional, unexpected, or modern results, work that surprises, or work that uses traditional materials to generate nontraditional results will be given priority in judging. Those who wish to submit work to be juried in the festival exhibition or skein competition should submit work by March 23.

This show is curated and juried by juror Tami Fuller of East Aurora, award-winning fiber artist, gallery owner, curator, and exhibiting member of the Buffalo Society of Artists, Roycroft Emerging Artist in Fiber, a 2022 CRNY designee, and a member of the Buffalo Weaver's Guild and the Weaver's Guild of Rochester. In addition to working as a fiber art educator as Blubird Studio, she is the daughter of a shepherdess raised on a working sheep farm with a knowledge of both fine art execution and technical application of fiber.

ACWC 2023 YOUTH VISUAL ARTS SCHOLAR EMMA GIFFORD EXHIBITION OPENS MAY 3

Perry Central School Senior Emma Gifford will showcase the results of her year-long intensive study as the 2023 -2024 Youth Visual Artist Scholar with the opening of her solo exhibition at the ACWC on Friday, May 3, at 6:30 PM.

Emma's scholarship offered her the opportunity to study primarily with master potter Clare Keating for a year to build on the knowledge she acquired through her high school art program in ceramics and glass. She brings passion and love for these two media along with dedication and determination to her studies and we will see that represented in the new work she has produced for her May exhibition, "VARIATIONS." The ACWC congratulates Emma on this incredible accomplishment and also on her recent acceptance into the art program at Keuka College!

The public is invited to come celebrate Emma's accomplishment at the opening reception on May 3 at the ACWC. The exhibition ends May 31.

LETCHWORTH ARTS & CRAFTS SHOW PAUSES

In 2021 the Arts Council for Wyoming County (ACWC) was forced to reimagine the Letchworth Arts & Crafts Show & Sale production. The Village of Perry administration, including the PWD and Police, the Perry Firemen, the Perry Rotary Club, volunteers, County businesses, and the community, opened their hearts and extended their arms to help our organization realize this vision. We are also deeply grateful to our artists, artisans, and food vendors for their important role in helping create beautiful and memorable experiences for all our new and faithful shoppers these past three years. The Arts Council Board of Directors and staff members wish to acknowledge publicly and thank you for your incredible generosity of time, expertise, funding, and much more.

As we move into 2024, we are faced with the decision to reimagine this event. Hence, the Board of Directors of the ACWC has made the decision to pause the presentation of the Letchworth Arts & Crafts Show & Sale. Thank you all for your understanding as we continue to honor our mission to bring art to the people and people to the artists.

RURAL AND TRADITIONAL ARTS FELLOWSHIP

ACWC is excited to announce that we will once again be administering the Rural and Traditional Arts Fellowship in partnership with New York State Council on the Arts. This fellowship celebrates rural artists as they develop place-based projects celebrating the communities they live and work in. It is a competitive program with only ten Fellows being chosen from across rural communities across the state of New York. After a wonderful and creative year with our first cohort, we are looking forward to meeting our ten new Fellows for 2024. Be watching for our new cohort in our next newsletter or visit rtaf-ny.org for more information.

FIBER CORNER

by Linda Franke

As I write this, I am in the midst of launching a state-wide fellowship program, writing final reports, researching grants, homeschooling my son, taking classes, trying to help aging parents, and launching a business. A friend said today that we really need 8-day weeks, but I disagreed. Another day as full as the first seven sounds just too exhausting! As I started typing, though, I noticed my great-grandmother's hand-stitched paper pieced quilt on the wall. I have it out so that I can try to repair it, but I am not sure that I can. The edges are worn and frayed, there are stains and tears. I have been thinking a lot about her today. She also worked several jobs, but she did it without electricity or indoor plumbing. She lost 3 of her 6 children to disease in infancy, another to a world war. A share cropper's wife, when her husband died unexpectedly due to a farming accident, she had less than 24 hours to take her remaining 3 young children off into the world and find her way as a single mother. And yet still, she left me beautiful art in the form of quilts and embroidery, songs and stories. Here's to all the artists that came before us, that struggled in ways we cannot even imagine and yet still left us such beautiful items to remember them by.

GLOW TRADITIONS NEWS

BY Karen Canning

...We pared and sliced apples till quite late and then had refreshments and a dance. I didn't suppose there was to be a dance. There was one violin and the melodeon made nice music. I never danced before but I did to-night...

The excerpt above comes from a diary entry of Julia Hoag, age 20, October 5, 1877, from Kendall, NY. It's a quote I have had the pleasure of reading aloud on numerous occasions while presenting historical music with Geneseo professor and music scholar, Jim Kimball. It also goes to show that, "if you never danced before," it's not too late! The GVCA Annual Round and Square Dance is coming up on Saturday, April 27, at York Central School, 7:00-10:00 pm, with dance instruction at 6:30pm.

Music and calling will be provided by Kelly's Old Timers and members of the Geneseo String Band. Some of you will remember that band member Elise Kelly was an apprentice caller last year. She graduated with flying colors and is ready to bring the fun for you and all your friends. With a modest admission of $5, and free for those 18 & under, this event is a must-add to your calendar. Come and enjoy a dance and musical tradition that has graced our region for 200 years!

On another note, keep an eye out for the release party for our Stories That Cook bilingual cookbook, coming out this spring, that features stories and recipes from our agricultural community, with original art created by farmworkers and their families.

ancient barns. Cork decoys are carved from both white and black cork. The process of carving his decoys is very involved, employing the use of draw knives, carving knives, wood chisels and gouges, rasps, Italian Riffler files, and sandpaper. Each piece is carved with the utmost care using his hand tools, of which many are antique and irreplaceable, and the selection of glues and oil paints are also critical to the workmanship and the finished piece. As a lifelong learner, Vincent's travel experiences, especially his many "waterfowling" trips, research, and carver Joe Lincoln have influenced his work, from the knowledge of the different species, hunting methods, and decoys. The public is invited to the opening reception at the ACWC's main gallery located at 31 S. Main St. Perry on May 10 at 6:30 PM to see this exhibit, meet the artist, and hear him speak about his work and what sparks his imagination and passion for creating.
